

Iceberg

Isolated, ancient, behemoths creeping along the sapphire ocean.

Crashing through colossal waves and sinking titanic ships; they are the rulers of the frozen waters.

Extrême explosions pierce through your ears as they calve from the glaciers and hit the water like bombs.

Breath-taking beauty leaves you in awe but finishes when you realise your heading strait at one !

Enormous polar animals find them an amazing hunting ground and home.

Rigid and jagged shapes appear on the horizon lit like lanterns by the polar morning sun

Great giants sadly melt away leaving freezing fresh water behind so it can always be part of the world.

BY JOWAN DENGLER